A SPICY CORRESPONDENCE.

The following correspondence, between certain citizens of Russellville and the Collector of Internal Revenue of the Second Collection District, will explain itself.

The reply of the Collector would indicate that he fully believed in the maxim laid down by Andrew Johnson, that "traitors must be punished, and treason rendered RUSSELLVILLE, KY., Oct. 4, 1865. Geo. D. Blaky, Esq., Collector of Inter-nal Reyenue, Second District of Kentucky, Dear Sir: We see in the Louisville papers of Monday and Tuesday, of this week, that there is difficulty at that and other points, with the railroads and individuals, for the omission to have receipts stamped.

We suppose at this point a like question might arise, as our community have been informed, that all such transactions were covered by some arrangements with the revenue officers and the companies. We think we may safely say that no one here would have omitted to stamp their re-ceipts, if it had been known that such was their duty.

The amended revenue law, section 158, provides that in cases of inadvertance, &c., the Collector may authorize stamps to be affixed where there was no intention to violate the law.

We ask the privilege, under that provi-sion, for ourselves and all other like cases in our community, of stamping any receipts which may have been issued, with the as-surance that the law in the future will be which may have surance that the law in rigidly complied with.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,

T. B. HARRISON,
G. T. BLAKY,
J. W. PERRY,
THOS. HARDY.

COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, 2D DISTRICT KY., BOWLING GREEN, October, 1865. ssrs. Harrison, Porter, Perry, and take place of others, Rusellville, Kv.: Sirs-Your note of the 4th inst., touching the dereliction of cit-izens in your community as to a non-observance of their duty in affixing stamps upon certain receipts, is just received. You refer me to section 158 to find a right for the exercise of discretionary power in remitting the fines and penalties your people have incurred.

I beg leave, through you, to refer these in whose behalf you write, to that same section, with the single remark that he who reads may understand, that for such viola-tions as those of which you speak, the privilege is extended (in certain limited and defined cases) to the party amenable to the penalties of the law, of affixing in the presence of the Collector the proper stamp, and paying at the same time the sum of fifty dollars. When this shall have been done, I shall be ready to hear and entertain reas-ons for the many omissions which have occurred, provided they are made by or occurred, provided they are made by or come from truly loyal men. Rebels and traitors, if such there be in your community, need not ask amnesty at my hands.

I regret to see still lurking in your breasts any semblance of the spirit which, in 1860 and 1861 was so prolific of rebellion. It was urged, or admitted, that a single individual, or even a few individuals, if guilty, should be held responsible and runnished should be held responsible and punished for the crime of treason; but that when whole neighborhoods or communities became involved the acts ceased to be a crime and persons should not be punished.

This mode of reasoning was so antagonistic to all rules of moral and political juris-prudence, that I may err, in looking with allowance upon the criminal acts of one or a few men, and in making no allowance for the criminal violations of the Internal Revenue laws where a whole intensely rebel community are involved. My rule of action is, and I am glad of the opportunity to make it thus public, to regard loyal men as liable to violate the Internal Revenue law inadvertently, without intent to evade the law or defraud the Government, for which many of them have sacrificed so much, while on the ether hand, long and close observation compels me to the belief close observation compels me to the belief that rebels and rebel sympathizers obey the law only because they are afraid of its pen-alties, and only await a favorable opportu-nity, in many localities (and I do not say that your's is not one of them) to resist its

I tell you trankly, gentlemen, that Russellville is the last place in Kentucky from which a petition of general amnesty for vi-olations of the internal revenue law should come, and I am the last man to whom it should be presented. I have not forgotten with what enthusiastic shouts the solemn resolves were adopted at your meeting there to resist the law. I cannot believe that you intended any indignity in making a request, which, in my mind, is so unreasonable, and in deference to your request I have written to the District Attorney to suspend any prosecutions until the 1st of December, that partice may have ties may have an opportunity under sec-tion 158 of coming before me and affixing stamps and paying fifty dollars. I do this feeling an indisposition to put them to un-necessary costs and trouble, and if you feel disposed to save them, would suggest that you may do it more effectually in making to them their duty under section

Please to say to those who can produce orear record of loyal words, deeds, and votes, during the rebellion, that I will hear and entertain applications of personal amnesty from them with great pleasure.

The condition of the United States in general and particularly the great change of the labor system of Kentucky, point out the necessity of earnest and comprehensive measures on behalf of our State, enabling her to keep pace with, if not to outstrip neighboring States, and to occupy that rank to which she is entitled by her favor-able situation, her climate, her fertile soil, he mineral wealth and her natural thor-

Constitution of the Kentucky Immigration Murder and Riot Near Utica, N. Y. Society, Established September 30 18. Two Men Benten to Death-Their House Mobbed and Barn Burned,

[From the Utica Herald, Nov. 1st.] The rumors upon the street which first gained currency about noon yesterday, to the effect that a murder had been committed in the town of Sangerfield, near the vilted in the town of Sangerfield, near the vil-lage of Waterville, were not without foun-dation. George W. Loomis had been mur-dered in his own house, and the life of his brother Grove assailed in such a manner that his death is not improbable. When we arrived in Waterville, to endeavor to in-vestigate the facts, we found the murder the all absorbing theme. Knots of men were discussing the circumstances upon street corners; and in public resorts, as well street corners; and in public resorts, as well as, we doubt not, in private families, the details of the terrible tragedy, furnished the only theme of conversation.

The old homestead of the Loomises, and the house where the murder was committed, is a substantial appearing two story structure, situated in the town of Sanger-field, five miles South of the village of Waterville, and four miles from Sanger-field Center. The house is one in which the family have resided for some forty the family have resided for some forty years, and is on a valuable farm of from three to four hundred acres. The family upon Tuesday, the day of the murder, consisted of Mrs. Loomis, her four sons, "Wash.," Grove, Denio and Plum; Cornelia, a daughter, and five or six laborers or domestics. We learn the more immediate facts in connection with the murder to be as facts in connection with the murder to be as follows:

Between one and two o'clock yesterday morning, the family were awakened by hearing men walking through the wood house and kitchen. They heard them go to "Wash.'s" sleeping room, situated upon the south side of the house, ground floor, and one of them call out, "Get up, 'Wash,' I want to see you." The men then retreated, and in a few moments they heard "Wash." go to the kitchen in his stocking feet. In a few minutes the family heard the men go up stairs and call to Grove, (whose sleeping room is in the second story,) "Grove, get up." He answered that he would, and in a short time did so and went down to the kitchen. Immediately the cry of "murder" was heard, and a scuffle. The daughter, Cornelia, (her room being down of "murder" was heard, and a scuille. The daughter, Cornelia, (her room being down stairs,) now went to the kitchen door and demanded admittance, and at the same time endeavoring to open it. She was met from the inside by a man with a pistol, who threatened to shoot her if she did not go away. This man she is positive she will be able to identify.

She retreated, in the meantime hearing cries from inside the room. At this juncture, Denio and Plum ran to a neighbor's— Edward Mason, residing about half a mile north-for assistance. The struggle going on in the kitchen scon ceased, and Cornelia ventured to return. She found Grove senseless upon the floor, with a grain bag, containing a few oats, which had been saturated with some inflammable fluid, and which was on fire lying upon his body. which was on fire, lying upon his body. Several articles of clothing, also, banging about the room, were saturated in a similar manner and on fire. Other garments, in like condition, had been thrown into the wood-box. With the aid of the family, the fames were soon extinguished. Grove was flames were soon extinguished. Grove was horribly beaten, and, we believe, shot. A large broken revolver, afterwards found upon the premises, is supposed to have been the instrument with which the deed was done. Grove, upon being removed to another room, was found to be conscious; but a new calamity was now discovered. The large barn opposite the house, (built upon the site of one destroyed a year since, by incendiarism) was discovered to be on fire. The barn, together with six or seven reliable houses which it contains fire. The barn, together with six or seven valuable horses which it contained, the estimate value of some of them being $2000 entire face terribly lacerated. He remained in an unconscious state until about noon esterday, when he expired.

Dr. S. G. Wolcott, of this city, who had been summoned by the family, arrived at the house a few moments after the death of "Wash." He gave it as his opinion that "Wash" came to his death by blows from a slung shot, and the fact that such an instru ment was found upon the premises appear to be conclusive proof. The doctor, we understand, also pronounces Grove's case very critical indeed. He fears that inflamation of the brain may set in and

Dr. E. A. Munger, (coroner) of Waterville, will hold an inquest upon the body of "Wash." to-day.
"Wash." Loomis was about twenty-three years of age, and Grove is some thirty-five. Both were small men, but strong and ath-

Members of the family express them-selves as confident of being able to identify ome of the assailants, of whom they think there were five or six, and rumor has sin-gled out this and that one as the murderers The suspicion in many cases, investigation of the facts leads us to believe, are wholly without foundation. An opinion can be much more correctly formed after the coroner's inquest, and when time and reason shall have had their effect.

It is not our province at this time to speak of the character which the Loomis family bore among their neighbors, or in the county. There can be no excuse for this horrible deed, though winked at possibly by popular sentiment.

Moore is an old militia general, but most of Moore is an old militia general, but most of the other names will be at once recognized as those of officers, more or less prominent, of the Southern Confederacy. Gen. John-ston was elected President of the company.

A desperate attempt at escape was made by the prisoners in the St. Louis county jail on Saturday. The jailor was knocked down by a porter bottle and set upon by some twelve or fourteen of the ruffians, three of whom escaped. A man named Marshall, confined on a charge of murder, came to the jailor's assistance, knocking the assailants right and left with a slop-bucket. The jailor used his revolver, but didn't hit anybody.

ELECTION NEWS.

Elections took place yesterday in New maining? York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and municipal elections the discovery it has made that, if its plan for this year, should be paid to his adminin St. Louis and Chicago. The results are overwhelmingly one-sided. Democracy, mortally wounded in October, received the | Southern delegates out. This it is sure they coup de grace yesterday, and its dead car- will not do. The notion that there can be cass is now ready for burial. The Union any possible position a community can ocgain in New York city is 15,000, and gains cupy but that of being wholly out of the are reported in all parts of the State. Even New Jersey has been gloriously redeemed from Copperheadism. Where will poor Nasby find refuge now? THE DEMOCRAT ON GEN. LOGAN.

We have looked in vain through all the radical papers of the North for any tribute of praise of General Logan's late speech at Jersey City, so flattering to him and the cause he espouses, as was contained in the columns of the Democrat of yesterday morning. Beginning by calling his speech clap-trap and fustian, and himself "a rabble rouser, with a small modicum of states manship," our Green street apostle of the new dispensation of rebellion enters at once upon the main work before him. Those who have read the speech will remember what is said about educating children to fear treason as they fear the bite of a poisonous serpent. "Our apostle" says "this is about as shallow as its author," and "hopes the fathers and mothers of this country will teach no such lessons." The argument ends with a grand flourish, and General Logan stands before us, crowned and garlanded, a "fanatic and demagogue."

Long observation of his apostleship's way of viewing things, enables us to assure our readers that all this is to be received as the highest praise of General Logan and his

The Pittsburg Commercial has been enlarged to a size larger than the Cincinnati Gazette or St. Louis Democrat. The Chronicle of that city is also to be consider- fore, glad to see that the Germans of this ably enlarged soon. There could be no better evidence of the general prosperity than Schwarz, A. Brandeis, J. M. Berries, and is presented in the improvement in Western journalism. The Commercial and Chronicle are among our most valued exchanges.

LAST MEXICAN OUTRAGE.—The New York Post thinks that the Government will lose no time in protesting against the system of assassination and murder inaugurated in Mexico. In a proclamation dated the 3d of October, at the city of Mexico, Maxmilian authorizes and instructs the Maxmilian authorizes and instructs the assassination of every prisoner thereafter taken by his forces. Any Mexican soldier captured, is to be tried summarily by the commander of the troops who capture him, and to be shot within twenty-four hours; and this whether he has made resistance or not. It is enough if he belongs to the forces of Juarez. Maxmilian's situation must be desperate when he finds it necessary to adopt a measure like this. The opposition to his usurpation is, no doubt, inconvenient to him; it has been protracted probably beyond his expectations; and his master does not find it so safe now as three years ago to send an army to Mexico.

THE TEST OATH.—Col. Forney writes to the Press: "From what I gather, there is a growing feeling in favor of maintaining and enforcing the oath: and this is directly and enforcing the oath; and this is directly traceable to the recent evidences of bad faith among prominent ex-rebels. What if there had been no such bar as this same oath, or if the law that established it had been repealed? These questions are asked by many who, before these evidences of worse than renewed disloyalty, were calmby many who, before these evidences of worse than renewed disloyalty, were calm-ly discussing the propriety of admitting the whole body of the Sonthern claimants for seats in the new Congress."

WHERE MINE STREET,

Incredible as it may appear, it has yet be me evident that there is a wide-spread and concerted movement going on in the Southern States, with the aim of electing the full number of Representatives from each State, in time for them to repair to Washington and take seats in the House of Representatives on its assembling and before organization. This being done, it is expected that the Northern Democratic members, and all those from the so-called border States will join with them, and they will thus be enabled to control the organization of the House, legalize their usurpapation of seats there, and provide for the return of their States on such terms as they please. It is pretended that nothing but the success of such a coup d' etat can turn aside the tide of Northern radicalism, which has thus far been stayed by the vigorous arm and iron will of the President, If Congress is allowed to organize without them, the Speaker of the House, and all the important posts in the various committees pressure thus brought to bear will be too positive. strong for the President. He will give way, and then will follow vigorous punishment of all prominent rebels, the total and irrevocable abolition of slavery, negro suffrage and equality, and repudiation of the rebel debt. It is thus they talk. Besides this movement, which seeks openly and by a revolutionary course, to defy the loyal and rightful rulers of the nation, we notice one other has been inaugurated by Gov. Holden, of North Carolina, namely: the appointing of nomen but those who can not qualify under existing laws, thus forcing Congress to waive or repeal these laws, or incur the odium of barring an entire State delegation from a seat in the national councils. But this has, or will, come to nothing, the plot having been ex-

The Louisville Journal, of yesterday morning, on the other hand, counsels a directly opposite course, with the design of accomplishing the same end, the over throw of the hated "radicals.". It advises that, so far as is possible, only those men be chosen who can take the Congressional test oath. This course, it argues, will convince the "minds of the conservative masses of the country and of the conservative members of Congress from the North that the Southern people are acting" in the true spirit of nationality and unity, and will "give the said Congressional conservatives and the Administration such an augmentation of moral power, that a victory over the radical at the opening of the next Congress would be certain."

Each of these plans of action, all looking o the same ultimate end—the usurpation of the Government by the rebels, in coalition with their sympathizers at the Northhas serious obstacles to encounter. First, and most obvious, stands the test oath. The argument which sets out by declaring that test oaths are unconstitutional, and therefore cannot be required, is too puerile and fallacious. Any man, seeking to enter upon an office under a republican government would certainly not be foolish enough to assume to be judge of the constitutionality of the conditions of induction to that office. But suppose that Governor Holden's crew of unmitigated rebels can break through this barrier; suppose that the delegations of a more hopeful character, of the Journal's recommending, can take the oath; suppose that the precipitating rebel delegations ere on the ground, as they propose, at the assembling of Congress, and, by some nocus-pocus, can get the dreaded test oath out of their path, is there no barrier to their revolutionary schemes re-

The Journal rubs it hands in its glee over is followed, the radicals will be forced take rank secession ground to keep the Union or wholly in it, does not seem to have been apprehended by these men. But we apprehend that, waiving the Congressional test oath, these men will find that Congres will claim and exercise the right of judging whether the reconstructed States have s fully complied in spirit and in form with the condition which the issues of the war unmistakably imposed, as to afford full reparation for the past and abundant security for the future.

KENTUCKY vs. VIRGINIA.

The following dispatch has gone the ounds of the press for a week or two: FOREIGN IMMIGRATION TO VIRGINIA Large numbers of Germans, Swedes and Danes are pouring into Virginia, but the supply is not equal to the demand. The price fixed for their services as farm hands r laborers is $150 a year, with food and odging for men between 20 and 50 years old, and for women $100.

It is not to be wondered, that the supply of these handy immigrants is not equal to the demand. Why should they go to Virginia, when in Kentucky and throughout the West, the wages paid to laboring men are nearly double as high as those here indicated, and the position of the laboring man so much more respected, that any Europeans, who go to Virginia, with the view of earning a living by labor, in preference to our own State, is ascribable simply to the organized efforts made on behalf of the former State, to import a laboring population, while no such effort has yet been made in Kentucky. We are, therecity, under the lead of Messrs. Theo. other prominent and public spirited citizens have taken the matter in hand, by founding a Kentucky Immigration Society, and hope that the Legislature, following the example of the neighboring States of Ohio and Tennessee, will aid them or co-operate with them in the pursuit of this all important

SHERMAN ON COPPERHEADS. - The folowing characteristic letter from Gen. Sherman was read by Gen. Kilpatrick, of New Jersey, at a Republican meeting in Brooklyn, New York, last Friday night: Gen, Judson Kilpatrick—Dear Sir: I have observed with interest your political conflict in New Jersey. It is really provoking, hardly worthy of a serious thought, but rather of satire and ridicule, the squirming of politicians called Copperheads, who opposed the war from every conceivable motive. Some from sheer cowardice, others to oppose a political party. Some because they thought we could not whip the South, and, that is reduced to a demonstration, have hard work to explain their conduct, even to themselves. I have no patience Gen. Judson Kilpatrick-Dear Sir: I have have hard work to explain their conduct, even to themselves. I have no patience with that class of men, and believe the people of the South have more respect for us who belabored them soundly, than the Copperheads, who, nominally their friends, led them deeper and deeper into trouble.

BATEMAN CONCERTS.-M'lle Parepa was greeted with a very full house last night. The Hall of the Masonic Temple was crowded with the clite of the city, and the audience gave unmistakable manifestations of a full appreciation of the rich musical entertainment afforded them. Mr. Bateman's company certainly combines in itself a very powerful array of musical talent. We know not when we have been present at a concert the performers, one and all, in which evinced so much superior musical ability. Of course, every one expected to be delighted with M'lle Parepa; her fame had preceded her. But, much as was expected, her rare and exquisite singing more than realized it all. She certainly has a magnificent voice, of rare compass and power, at once sweet and the United States will occur on the 7th of powerful. She will not fail to draw fine audiences, while in Louisville. And we are giad to see that she is so well supported by the other members of the company. We beg, however, to protest against the audience calling every performer out after morning at 10 o'clock, at the Crittenden each performance. It is altogether too exacting. It is well to manifest a proper appreciation, but to insist upon having twice as much as is down in the programme is too much. There will be an entire change

Indian Chiefs in Washington--- Interview with the Commissioner of Indian Af-

House.

WASHINGTON, November 7.—The chiefs of the Fox tribe had an interview with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs this morning, in relation to their material interests. The Sacs and Foxes have a treaty with the United States, a reservation in Kansas and an annuity of $51,000; but the Foxes will not live with the Sacs, and have located in Iowa, and now want the Government to change the arrangements to suit their cir-

They were asked, among other things how they would like to go into Indian Territory, where it was proposed to establish a Government embracing many of the Indian titles, but they said they wanted to think all matters over. They had always been good friends to our Government and people. When they come to talk with their white father, there was always something harsh. This was wrong; they could get along better with smooth and easy words. They wanted to see their white father, the President.

The Commissioner replied that if the Foxes ran away from the reservation, and disregarded the treaty, all the advantages would inure to the Sacs. They must either go back, or state some good reason why they will not return. The chiefs replied in impossible for them to live with the

EOPENED. THIS GREAT NATIONAL THOROUGHFARE IS

FREIGHTS AND TRAVEL. The cars and machinery destroyed are being replaced y new running stock, with all recent improvements; and s the bridges and track are again in substantial condi-ion, the well-earned reputation of this road for Speed, Security and Comfort ill be more than sustained under the reorganization of its business.

In addition to the unequalled attractions of natural scenery heretoiore conceded to this route, the recent troubles upon the border have associated numerous points on the road, between the Ohio river and harper's Ferry with painful but instructive interest. CONNECTIONS

At the Ohio river, with Cleveland and Pittsburg, Central Ohio, and Mareitta and Lincinnai railroads, and, through them with the world railway system of the northwest, central west and southwest, at Harper's Ferry with the Winchester road. At Washington Junction with the Washington Branch for Washington Uty and the lower Petomac. At Baltimore with seven daily trains for Philadelphia and New York.

"WO DOLLARS additional on Through Tickets from Baltimore or the Northern cities, give the privileze of visiting WASHINGTON CITY on route—being $3 lower than the cost by any other line, as recently churged. This is the only route by which passengers can procure therough tickets and through checks from Washington City.

It is not necessary to publish a long list of diseases for which the CEDRON BITTERS are a Specific. In all diseases of the STOMACH, DOWELS, LIVER or KIDNEYS; in affections of the BRAIN, dependin upon derangement of the Stomach or Bowels; in GOUT, RHEUMATISM and NEURALGIA, and a FEVER and AGUE, it is destined to supersede 1 other remedies. It not only cures these diseases, but prevents them. A wine glass full of the BITTER taken an hour before each meal, will obviate the ill-effect of the most unhealthy climate, and secure the ale against diseases under the most rying exposure.

PREPARED BY DR. JOHN BULL, A his Laboratory on 5th Cross Street, SYMPTOMS.

The Symtoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, then they have frequent at-tacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperaure. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterward thick and adhesive may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The seretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell essened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrhis that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morn-ing of a thick or slimy nuceus, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should less no time in arresting it.

The above are but few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address.
